A carry-on campaign for equal pay was mapped out by the Teachers' Welfare League of Brooklyn at its December meeting, held yesterday at the Bedford Library, Franklin Avenue and Hancock street. President Frederick Z. Lewis presided.

The chief business of the meeting was the adoption of a resolution to appoint a committee to draw up a petitlon asking for equal pay for men and women teachers, and send it to the schools of Brooklyn, in order that all teachers may express their views on the question.

"Surely Mrs. McAdoo understands that the passage of the Federal amendment by the Senate would not give women the vote unless ratified by 36 legislatures, and this would take some years, rather than a few weeks or months." said Mrs. Wadsworth.

"I do not believe they can get the amendment though the present Senate," she added. "Men are not easily driven to vote against their convictions. In my opinion, the suffragists are desperate, and their efforts to get the vote fout of the Senate by Christmas' is a public confession that they fear to submit it to the next Congress."

No public display of war workers' costumes took place at the meeting of the National American Woman Suffrage Association yesterday. The display, so-called by the anti-suffragists, resulted from the fact that the war workers attended the suffrage meeting in large numbers. They wore their costumes to the meeting just as soldiers wear their uniform. The yeowomen and navy reserve girls who served as ushers were in uniform. The first day's sale of small items from the collection of furnishings of Cheverell's Manor House, Hertfordshire, England, offered at Clarke's art rooms, 5 West Forty-fourth Street, attracted a large crowd of society buyers yesterday afternoon. The total for these lots, consisting mostly of Waterford glass, old china, glasses and embroidery, brought $6,200.

Miss Marie Doro purchased a quaint Victorian needlework picture, showing usen Victoria on horseback in flowing robes, for $180. Two pairs of fine Waterford crystal candlesticks went to Mrs. Charles Sabin for $120 and $130, respectively, and Mrs. Anson Beard obtained a much sought after set of three Vieux Saxe flower pots for $140.

Mrs. Louise Inglis, widow of James S. Inglis, died yesterday at her home, 142 the late Alfred J. Cox, master binder, was concluded at the American Art Galleries last evening. Though no surprising prices were paid, an average good price was maintained throughout the sale.

At the first two sessions G. A. Baker was a keen bidder and obtained a handsomely bound set of thirty-eight volumes of "The Dramas of Victor Hugo," translated by I. G. Burnham, with numerous full page etchings by French artists. This set, in a special ternoon at 2 o'clock at St. John's Methodist Episcopal Church, New Rochelle, N. Y.
